I have worked with people with learning disabilities for over 30 years and work for Choice Support. I know many self advocates at Choice Support and all over the country who work hard making life better for people , and I have worked with some of these people on things like ,improving employment opportunities ,better access to transport ,getting people more involved in politics and voting. In my job in involvement and quality I work with Quality Checkers and as one of the founding board of the Association of Quality Checkers.

Life has got better for many people but as LDE knows there is much to do to make life, more equal, safer, and fairer. People still experience hate and mate crime , can be made less well or worse, in hospital and are not thought of by employers or the Government.

Choice Support try to give the best opportunities to people they support but they are always keen to meet with other People with Learning Disabilities. They work a lot with other disability organisations and I have met many people at conferences & workshops all around the country. Choice Support has many contacts with people and I would be able to share a lot of experience from the self advocates and staff.

I work with the Our Rights Group at Choice Support. As self advocate representatives from the regions they work on many issues. They are part of the Dimensions #I'm With Sam Campaign and all wrote to their MP's to let them know about it.

LDE is a very important organisation working with people, families, organisations and academics, we can get things done together and I would love to be part of making that happen.
