

Small actions to make Good Lives happen

	Make a pledge to include people who's voices are often excluded.		Share the framework with everyone we know and help them be part of it Here is the key information about good lives that you can send to people.
	Organisations test all decisions: Will this be a step towards good lives? Or a step backwards?		Work together. For example, by getting in touch and working with a self-advocacy group near you. Or contact Gary or Rachael who can get you in touch with other members on info@LDEngland.org.uk.
	Guide organisations work and start making practical changes Take it to Partnership Boards and commissioners as a guide		To be the role models and a leaders we need – to speak up to prevent injustice. If you see an injustice, make it your job to stand up and say something against it!
	Share your good work to be part of the framework.		To be positive and action focused. For example, our recent work which took action to receive more accessible communication from the government.
	Write to your MP and local Councillors about the framework and making it happen		Vote and take part in government consultations. Here is some information on how to get involved with government consultations.
